

VERDICT FOR $25,000 IN FRYE DAMAGE SUIT

Plaintiff Given Award for Injuries to Boy When Dynamite Cap Exploded.

FIRM DENIES NEGLIGENCE

Fred McIntosh, 10-Year-Old School Boy Filed Action Through Father For $30,000.

A verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $25,000 was returned Wednesday by the jury in district court before which the case of Fred McIntosh, his next friend, Albert McIntosh, his father, against the C. O. Frye and Howard Frye construction company and the City of Tulsa, has been for the past three days. The plaintiff asked damages for his injuries received May 22, 1918, when a dynamite cap with which he was playing exploded, breaking two fingers from his left hand and permanently injuring his eye. The plaintiff claims that the dynamite cap was obtained by the boy through the negligence of the construction company to properly safeguard such dangerous property.

Fred McIntosh, 10 years of age, received one of the caps which from the testimony had been taken from a tool box at South Wheeling avenue Wednesday morning. The auto was driven by A. P. Siles. Mason was not seriously injured.

Terrifying Discomfort From Skin Diseases

Itching and Burning Eruptions Torture Victims

Only those who are afflicted with Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas, boils and similar so-called skin diseases can appreciate the real terrifying discomfort that comes from these disorders.

Just imagine that there is a steady blaze of fire in constant contact with your tender skin, and you can form some idea of the pain that must be endured by the afflicted. For the millions and millions of tiny disease germs that seem to burrow through the skin, each one carrying a torch of fire, cause pain that is almost unendurable.

And the constant plea of those afflicted is the oft-repeated question, "How can I find relief from this constant torture?" No palliative, temporary relief that causes the terrible itching to abate for awhile, but real genuine relief that shakes off the shackles of the disease and restores the skin to its former healthy condition.

And temporary relief is the most that can be expected from local treatment, such as emollients, salves, lotions, etc., which is one reason why these disease germs seem to hold on with such tenacity. It is not because they are incurable, but because they are improperly treated, and that they appear to be so stubborn and so difficult to cure.

The fact is they are misnamed, and therefore, improperly treated. Because the trouble attacks the skin and all the pain and discomfort is confined to the surface of the skin, these disorders are called "skin diseases." But the real cause is a disease germ in the blood which multiplies by the million, and sets up an irritation in some tender location of the delicate skin.

J. MARON, 1412 SOUTH Forest Avenue, was struck by an automobile at Eleventh and Quaker streets Wednesday morning. The auto was driven by one Ernest McIntosh, a boy companion of the deceased. McIntosh, ignorant of the dangers of a lighted match in the car, which he stated on the witness stand he thought was some kind of a firecracker.

The defense maintained that not only did the plaintiff obtain possession of the car through an intermediate agency but declared that the car was sent in a tool box out of the way of children and other persons and that McIntosh must have raised the lid of the box and taken the car from a second box contained in the larger one. Both the construction company and the city denied negligence in the storing and handing of the cars.

HOME SERVICE BUREAU TO CONTINUE IN WORK

All Soldiers Will Be Aided as in Past, Is Announcement Following Executive Meeting.

The meeting of the executive committee of the Red Cross, called by Philip Kates at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in the home service office in the Lynch building, was attended by all but three of the 12 members and local problems were discussed and a policy agreed on.

The general policy of the home service is determined to divide headquarters located in St. Louis but the local policy in so far as it pertains to matters that headquarters can know little about is determined by the executive committee of the Red Cross.

At the meeting Wednesday, discussion was reached that the home service would continue to help all returning soldiers giving financial assistance where necessary and that they would ask the management of all other organizations by requesting them to notify the home service of funds of all aid given in order that assistance may not be duplicated.

This has been found necessary especially in regard to securing employment for soldiers. The Y. M. C. A. and the federal employment bureau and the home service will in future exchange reports on men who have sought help.

The Red Cross has a method by which it is possible to keep in touch with the home service chairman in the home of every soldier to ascertain the character of each man and his material aid other than supplies the day's necessities, no other necessities is given until such a report is obtained. This may be had within 24 hours. It is the desire that no deserving soldier shall fail to receive help and that no unworthy one shall impose upon the service.

According to Mrs. Hattie Gaylor, secretary, the problem of the transient soldier is the most pressing as the home service has more calls from men than ever but the work to be done is agreed by the committee to be expanding and continuance of the organization was unquestioned.

Women of fashion and refinement seem to have been acquiring the mentioned wavy habit, depending less and less upon remedies for their complexion difficulties. It does seem a let easier just to peel off the wavy skin when it loses its youthfulness and becomes dry, but the work to be done is easily, safely, painlessly and economically.

There's no trouble getting married if you are an only child. There's no trouble getting a virtuous home, generally known here, and there's no trouble using it just as you use cold cream applying at night washing it off next morning. The new gentle skin which gradually appears is soft and beautifully white, radiant with healthiness. The surface trouble like pimples, red or yellow patches, freckles, etc., vanishes of course with the discarded article.—Adv.
